Claim Rejections - 35 USC §102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. §102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office Action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States. . . .

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 1-7, 10, 13-15, 17, 18, 23, 24, 26, 28, 29, 31, 33 and 34 are rejected under 35

U.S.C. §102(e) as being anticipated by Baric (U.S. 6,527,176 B2). Baric discloses the claimed invention including a receiving at a vending machine a purchase order for the item (the request is received at the primary dispenser 10 whereby the primary dispenser 10 is a fuel dispenser that also dispenses vending machine items [C7, L18-21]. The secondary dispenser 20 is a vending machine.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC §103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. §103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office Action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 1-7, 10, 13-15, 17, 18, 23, 24, 26, 28, 29, 31, 33 and 34 are alternatively rejected under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) as being unpatentable over Baric in view of Peters (U.S. 5,769,269) and Walker (U.S. 6,397,193 B1) (“Walker ‘193”).¹ It is the Examiner’s principle position that the claims are anticipated because communicating to the another vending machine available products is inherent.

However if not inherent, Peters directly disclose a vending machine that automatically senses when it is ‘out-of-stock’ and automatically updates the menu selections for the user, based upon product availability. This real time communication prevents users from paying for items which are out-of-stock.

Moreover, Walker teaches determining whether price adjustments are necessary for the purpose of reward customers who buy multiple products.

So if not inherent, it would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Baric as taught by Peters and Walker '193 to include making available to customer only those products that were in inventory and adjusting prices. Such a modification would have helped prevent users from paying for items that were out of stock by preventing the users from being able to select the item in the first place. Moreover, such a modification would have provided customers with a price discount thereby rewarding customers who buy multiple products.

9. The Examiner maintains his position that Applicants are not their own lexicographer. This issue will not be further addressed by the Examiner.

Response to Arguments

10. Applicants' arguments with respect to the pending claims have been considered but are not persuasive.

11. Applicants argue that Baric does not disclose "receiving, at the vending machine in the network of vending machines, a purchase order fro the item" The Examiner respectfully disagrees since, under the broadest reasonable interpretation, the secondary dispenser receives the electronic purchase order (an order that the customer is purchasing items) from the primary dispenser 10. The primary dispenser 10 sends the order to the secondary dispenser 20. Under the broadest reasonable interpretation, the primary dispenser 10 is also a “vending machine.”

12. Applicants also argue that Baric does not disclose “receiving at the vending machine, a response to the request indicated of whether the item was available at at least one other vending machine” The Examiner respectfully disagrees since Baric directly teaches checking if a vend item is available for purchase because Baric discloses the inventory of the dispenser is updated and the status of that dispenser is also transmitted to controller 30 while sending alert signals to the central facility 50 when out of stock. [C5, ~L26-30.] Baric also directly discloses monitoring “supply information.” [C5, ~L30-40.]

13. Regarding Applicants’ discussion of “configured to” language, it is the Examiner’s position that “configured to” is functional language whereby the prior need only be ‘capable of’ performing the claimed function for anticipation and that while such functional recitations must be considered, they need not be directly disclosed.

Conclusion

14. This action is made final. Applicants are reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 C.F.R. §1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire three months from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within two months of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the three-month shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 C.F.R. §1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than six months from the mailing date of this Second Final Office Action.
